WINSLOW-WRIGHT-At the residence of the bride's mother, near Jackson, Miss, on Wednesday, December 26th, 1877, at 6 o'clock P. M. by the Rev. Dr. John Hunter, MR. C. B. Winslow to Miss Mary Wright.

This was a scene of the most brilliant social event that has marked the holiday season, being a gathering of invited friends from the city and country to witness the lighting of the hymeneal torch that is henceforth to shed its resplendant rays upon the pathway of the united fortunes of Mr. Winslow and his beautiful bride The nuptial tie had scarcely been made before showers of congratulation poured in upon the happy couple, mingled with other more tangible testimonials of high regard. Then the entire party were invited to the residence of Mr. B. T. Ligon. Immediately upon our arrival the "silvery footed dews" muste with its gav voluptuous swell burst forth in propitious strains and light elfin forms arrayed in gorgeous costume threaded the maze of the quadrille and the smooth waltz. After all had feasted their esthetical faculties we were ushered into the supperroom where upon "a table richly spread in regal mode" was a feast that would vie in appurtenances with the bowls of the banquets of Olympus "sparkling with starry dew." Among the distinguished persons on this memorable occasion were, Mrs. Watts, of Lawrence, S.
